

GUINNESS BOOK OF RECORD'S FISH

Caught at Waupaca

By Darryl Bassler, 10.

Wednesday, Mike Yellen of Cabin 5 caught a Northern Pike on our own Stratton lake. This is the record for campers this year. The fish was reeled in at 7:20 pm, during a free period. With his friend, Todd Nickow, Mike went out towards the far side of the lake in a rowboat. Mike had a little trouble bringing in the fish, but, nevertheless, brought it in himself.

The fish is approximately 3 lbs, and 20 inches long and $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches high. It has a green shading onmost of its body.

The fish was nearly fully grown, but wasn't Mike's largest catch. His largest catch was a 5 pounder in a different area.

The fish was being kept in the kitchen freezer, and Mike plans to have it for dinner soon. Manny Desnet, when reached for comment said, "More bigger fish are to come; this is the leader!"

COUNSELLOR CORNER

By Mike Lurie, J.C. (7)

In another intensive interview with the Eyewitness Waupaca News-team, Ray Krysh, Gary Silbar, and I talked with John Goldstein, (poor John didn't have a chance with Ray present).

Jon, 17, is schooling in Almont High School in Michigan. When asked about his job, Jon replied, "Its a good job that'll get me in shape. Besides cleaning the washrooms, Jon also fixes tires, screens, paints, and does many other things to generally help around camp.

Jon wants to be a professional baseball player. He was offered a contract by the Detroit Tigers; unfortunately, Jon has not yet finished high school.

When asked what satisfaction he got from doing maintenance work, Jon only said, "It has alot of flush to it!"

WONDERFUL WARREN

By Steven Gordon, CIT

I walked down to the Waterfront to interview Warren, and there he was, helping two little campers into a canoe. Warren Metzдорff, this year's new waterfront director, is a promising guy who heads an excellent staff of water safety instructors, certified by the American Red Cross. Each staff member is well trained in case of any emergency.

Warren explained some of the new waterfront policies to me. Two of the most important are: 1) All campers must stand in two lines at the top of the stairs until a staff member gives the OK to put the buddy tags in the appropriate place. This eliminates confusion and unnecessary roughness. Also, Campers wishing to water ski must pass the beginners swim test.

This year, there are many new additions to the waterfront. New life jackets were purchased along with new ski jackets for water ski department. The two big improvements are the addition of a beautiful paddleboat, and two new Sailboats. They are AMF-Alcott Sunfish. Also, two small outboard engines were added to the back rowboats. Also, we are fortunate to have staff member, (Kal Larson) with a 70 horse power boat, which serves as a temporary addition.

Warren said that it took a full week to set up the waterfront before camp started. The staff worked hard to build a ski-shed, to paint and sand all the docks and piers, also the raft.

Overall, we are fortunate to have such a qualified staff and such a strong intelligent waterfront director. We are looking forward to a safe, and fun year at the waterfront.

WOULD YOU BELIEVE.....???

- ...that LAMBCHOP, the new sheep likes to swim? (Soon to get a buddy tag)
- ...that Ray Krysh actually wears a suit and tie with a vest at Brentwood School
- ...that Elliot Robbins gets his medicine?
- ...that Cabin 12 & B are still working on 99.7's in inspections??

FROM MINI-BIKES TO MINI-JEEPS

By Mike Lurie

"There will be Mini-bikes for Cabins 5 & 6 during the free-period," or some such announcement is often heard in the mess hall. The man in charge: camp's own, Erv Kasian.

As I walked out to the Mini-bike trail, I saw Erv stressing safety to the boys. The first thing he stresses to all his classes and to the boys at the trail is safety. He says, "A boy bruising himself or cutting a finger is not too serious, but a broken arm on a mini-bike trail is very serious. A boy can ruin a summer by being wild on the mini bike trail."

When asked whether he enjoys servicing the bikes, he replied, "I hate to fix a broken bike, but I enjoy riding them and like to watch the boys riding them. He also stressed that the boys enjoy riding the mini-bikes more than the barely running go-carts. He stated that Manny should trade in the carts for some more mini-bikes.

Erv is very happy with his cabin (4) because of the age group (10-11 years). He loves kids and enjoys working with them.

Erv came to Camp on March 14. He literally opened the camp. He removed the tarps from the windows, fixed plumbing, and believe it or not even raked leaves.

Finally erv said that he will probably be back next year because the "food is good, the camp site is beautiful, and the Camp director is efficient!"

ELEPHANT STEW FOR CAMPERS...ONLY

- 1 Elephant-Medium size
- 2 Onions, (optional) salt & pepper

Cut elephant into small, bite size pieces. Add enough brown gravy to cover. Cook over kerosene fire about 4 weeks at 465 degrees. This will serve 3,800 people. If more are expected, two rabbits may be added, but do this only in an emergency as most people do not like Hare in their stew.

RICH CHEEVER, Archer

By Mitchell Kreeger, Cabin 7

Rick goes to school at the University of Illinois. He is planning on majoring in Computer Management Accounting. He has developed the nickname of "Ban-acek", the TV investigator because he looks like him.

At college, Rick plays rugby in the position of wing and has played for two seasons. His team won third place in the NCAA and second place in the Big 10. In all divisions of the team there are 80 players.

Here at Camp, Rick instructs Archery. He has some new ideas for more exciting shooting. One is the Shoot for Skill. In this game, Rick puts a half a dollar on the target, if the archers on the course hits one, you can keep it.

Another idea is a William Tell contest. An archer draws a picture of a man with an apple on his head. Then you attach the picture to the target. If you hit the person, you lose. If you hit the apple, you win. If you miss both, you get to take the shot over again.

We hope that Rick has an enjoyable first year at Waupaca.

PUZZLE OF THE WEEK

Try and find staff members in the following puzzle. Names may be in any direction. Up, down across, backwards, on the diagonal: (There are 16 names)
