"PULITZER WORKED FOR VOL 9
★ARTS ISSUE★ US!" No #3

PLAY OPENS TONITE!

(AP, UPI, DDS) By Ty Guppy. The Waupaca Art players have announced the cast for the 4th of July play. This year's extravaganza comes after several years of non-theatrical fourths.

The play's director and writer Paul Warsheauer said the play was original and that he had "borrowed" some material from the musicals, 1776, and Mary Poppins. Also other borrowed material was adapted from the hit song, Georgie Girl.

The play, A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Revolution takes a new look at the traditional characters of the American revolution in skit & song. Paul has adapted the songs and written new lyrics for some of them too. Performance is set for the Fourth in the evening.

The cast of the play is as follows:

Narrator: Jeff Rissman
Geo. Washington: Gary Rosengarten
Martha Washington: Brad Polan
Major Muldoone: Mike Roskin
Lieutenant Lockjaw: Lee Multack
Ben Franklin: Jon Schulman
Franklin Franklin: Brian Vinet
Fred: Joel Feinstein
Ted: Andy Slavitt
Ned: Bobby Frank
Thos. McKean: Dave Alpert
John Adams: John Rubiner
Thomas Jefferson: Andy Sirota
Robert Livingston: Gary Lipkin
Roger Sherman: Greg Burke
Richard Lee: Jeff Bornste
Samuel Chase: Ross Much
Ed Rutlege: Rod Engel
Jo Hewes: Ken Lapins
John Hancock: H. Bramson
Josh Wilson: Lee Roth
John Dickinson: Sy. Sussma
Godfather: Eric Kaplan
Clerk: Mike Sartin

CLASS CLOSE-UP

By Bob Bastyr

Friday's Hocky game was a high scoring game in which the White team won by a score of 6-2. Leading scorer was the White center, Joel Feiger with four of the six goals. The other two goals were made by Glen Trager whose shot sped by defensive players Ron Sklare & Andy Pfau. There were great saves made by both teams.

The White team's goalie Richard Novak made two outstanding saves with only two goals sneaking through both defensive men Dave Barr and John Hellerman.

Late third period reinforcement came from the bench from Brian Bennett making several stops.

The other blue team members were David Grossman and the Star Palyer, Dan Schwartz who scored two.

There was only one penalty called and it was on Glen Trager for slashing. Don Schwartz took the free shot to score on Richard Novak.

In general it was a real good game with aggressive playing and decent defensive action.

PIE IN THE EYE

Stranger than Fiction...
By Joel Feinstein

A funny thing happened last night to one of the campers in my cabin, and also to one of the counsellors.

During dinner one camper dared his counsellor to throw a pie at him, but the counsellor declined.

They both decided to postpone the throwing of the pie until later near taps.

Since there was no whipped cream, they used shaving cream. So, the cabin came outside after taps and the counsellor lost the coin throw to see who went first. The camper decided to throw the pie second. The counsellor took aim, and threw the pie at the camper hitting him in the face. The camper got mad and dropped his cake on the ground but picked it up. He whipped it at the counsellor brushing him on the hair and the rest of it wizzing by.

After taking pictures they both took showers and went to bed.

INTIMATE INFIMARY or a a close-up of
SUSI STOFFEL

By Lee Roth.

Susi is 23 and lives in Forth Wayne, Indiana. She has been a Registered nurse for three years and attends Purdue University; soon to be getting her Bachelor's degree.

She has been working in an emergency room under the watchful eye of four doctors and has been learning the fast paced techniques for saving people's lives in an emergency.

She likes her job here because of the outdoors and her desire to work with children.

Her hobbies are traveling, dancing, reading, tennis, swimming, fishing and picnics.

Susi says that altho she treats many allergies she herself has none.

She says she has lots of boyfriends but really enjoys getting kisses from Aaron Jones, Pete Jones' three year old son.

We hope she enjoys the rest of the summer and doesn't have to work too hard.
