

WAUPACA HERALD TRIBUNE

"ALL THE NEWS
THAT'S GOOD
WE PRINT!"

VOL 9

NO #4

FLYING SAUCER-GHOST

By Joel Feinstein
& Sy Sussman

REPORTED!!

Jeff Forten, counsellor for Cabin 1 said that on Friday night after taps he saw something that resembled a ghost afloat in a tree. This was not Jeff's first encounter with an unexplained being. A Waupaca Herald Tribune reporter discovered that Jeff had an encounter with a UFO according to US Air Force Files. Jeff reported it this way in those reports:

I was driving West on Hiway UFO 114 at 5:50 AM on June 7, 1976. Since the hiway is rarely used I felt apprehensive. Suddenly an object appeared in the sky. I couldn't determine what it was cause the sun was in my eyes. As it approached I saw it was a saucer. Then

I found myself being transported aboard the craft. The aliens used some sort of hypnosis so that I couldn't remember anything. Next thing I knew I was in my car a week later. When I arrived home a week later, no one would believe me!

We don't believe it either. Who can find the fault of this story?

EDITORIAL-E. Kaplan

Today I am going to talk about the bugs in camp. You can't walk barefoot because the ants will crawl under your toenails, up your legs and into your nose. We should buy a huge killer insect that will eat up all the other bugs. Or buy 8,000 Venus Fly-traps & hide them all over Camp.

WAUPACA HERALD TRIBUNE

Staff Credits

Editor-Paul W. Wershauer
City Desk-Brad Nolan...
-Lee Roth
Editorials-Eric Wershauer
Dear Blabby-Kurt Heyman
-Sy Sussman
Special Assignments-
-Andy Slavitt
-Jeff Pearl
Reviewer- Dave Alpert
Stranger than Fiction-
-Joel Feinstein
Puzzles & Games-
-Adam Fleischer
Conspirator & Compatriot-
-Michael Lurie
Occasional contributors-
-Georgie Lamm
-Bob Bastyr
-Scott Heiman
-Mike Savin

*****
The creed of the WAUPACA
HERALD TRIBUNE is to provide accurate, fair accounting of activities here at Camp. We are dedicated to tell only the good things here at Camp for we must all learn to appreciate those things which are good and not to accentuate the bad. So we are aestheticians and believers in the Universal good!

*****
The WHT is published tri-weekly 'by' in Waupaca, Wisc.

...once again...

DEAR BLABBY!

Dear Blabby,

There is a kid in my cabin who is a real pest. He hums every minute of the day. What do I do?
The Humbug.

Dear Humbug,

Flub something up so he has to yell at you a lot. Then he will get larangitis, and won't be able to hum

Blabby.

P.S. Don't you ever
call me a pest again!
*****

Dear Blabby,

There is a guy in my cabin who has lots of comics and won't let me read any of them.
He doesn't read them either which makes us all mad. What to do?

Comicless

Dear Comicless,

Buy magazines about the same size as the comics and switch covers and read the comics that now have the mag covers on them!

Blabby.

*****

Leave your Blabby's in the box at the office! Love Blabby

WAUPACA'S NIGHTLY BUSINESS

(Or a Look at the O.D.
Job at Camp)

By Andy Slavitt

The O.D., or On Duty job at night is usually routine except for an occasional raid or a cabin telling late night ghost stories.

This is all very possible and in fact it did happen the nite I travelled with the O.D. on his rounds.

The O.D.'s job is as follows. He is to check all the cabins and those with their lights on get a warning, to shut them off and the same is true if they are loud and keeping other campers awake. If they keep it up some kind of punishment is implemented so they won't do it again.

After the O.D. checks all the cabins he goes to the mess hall. There he gets a snack and converses with other staff members. He repeats this procedure 3 or 4 times until midnight and then like the rest of camp, he goes to bed.

CABIN NITE OUT--8, 9, 10!

Cabins Dream of Dairy Queen

By Scott Heiman

Cabins 8, 9 & 10 were treated to a night out in the bustling metropolis of Waupaca Thursday. The cabins went to town on Cabin Night and went to several local high spots to commemorate the quad-weekly event. (Each cabin goes into town one night each four weeks.) The cabins had Pizza at the Merrimac Pizza Parlour, went Bowling at the modern air conditioned Waupaca Lanes, and then climaxed the evening with a visit to the Dairy Queen--ice cream parlour extraordinaire!

Some highlights included several boys getting into a yelling contest with some of the local girls & their boyfriends. Also Kurt Heyman got a shiner but smiled the rest of the nite anyway. Dave Lewis and Jon Yellen were the pool sharks and later Kip Poncher got thrown into the lake up to his knees. Mike Roskin decided to cool off by swimming in his underwear in the lake later on, too!

...new feature...

MOVIE

REVIEWS OF THE WORLD

"Grease"

By David Alpert

The movie Grease is based on the stage play which is one of the longest running plays on Broadway today. It tells the story of two people, Danny, played by star John Travolta and Sandra Dee, played by singing star Olivia Newton-John. They get involved in a summer romance but it doesn't work out during the school year.

The movie is a musical and contains many good singing and dancing numbers. All in all it is a good movie.

Reviewers Wanted!

If you have seen any plays, movies, concerts or read any good books lately, please ask one of the Waupaca Herald Tribune staff members and they will help you write a review for this column. Your name will be printed in the paper and you could be eligible for the Pulitzer prize!

CONTRABAND CORNER

By Homan Fingers

In a surprise mail inspection today our chief candy smeller found the most interesting package of, contraband candy ever recorded in the annals of the Waupaca mail service.

The parcels, addressed to two brothers here at camp contained many sticks of beef jerkey, Hershey's chocolate miniatures, and other food stuffs like cheese and crackers, but all were packaged in a most ingenious style.

A copy of the boring novel, the Yearling was hollowed out and inside was placed twelve sticks of the jerky substance. Rolled up socks contained the Hershey's and a pen with no ink contained the balance of the jerkey.

Old Fast Fingers Desnetoni cornered the suspects by calling them to the office. Desnetoni has previously worked for the FBI, CIA, USMC & the UJA. With his extensive work with the Customs service the culprits were no match. No one else is encouraged to try and test him!

A FUNNY THING HAPPENED ON THE WAY TO THE PLAY

A review

By Mike Lurie

As the title suggests the Fourth of July Play, put on by the Waupaca Arts Players was a bit out of the ordinary. The play, which was written, produced, directed, lighted, costumed and organized by Paul "Cheating" Warshauer was a huge success. Warshauer gets his nick-name from his habit of borrowing songs from other composers. Why then, do I say that a funny thing happened? It stems from the fact that Mr. Warshauer has never had a play come off as well as this one. And this play had 20 some odd actors in it, the most Mr. Froggy has ever had to work with. And get this: he put it on in just one week! Quite a feat.

As far as the play itself goes, the acting was superior to any other play in recent history at Camp.

Excellent performances were turned in by John Rubiner as John Adams, Andy Sirota as as Thomas Jefferson, and Sy Sussman as conservative, John Dickinson. Superior vocals by Gary Lipkin as Robert Livingston, Greg Berke as Roger Sherman, and Jeff Bornstein as the natural-lee modest Richard Henry Lee, and Jon Punky Schulman as the inimitable Ben Franklin.

No play would be the same without the unkosher ham. Porked up performances were handed in by Mike Roskin as Muldoone, Lee Multack as Lockjaw, and Brad Polan as well developed Martha Washington added color to the already bright production. And the notes hammered out by Liberace Haberman enchanted the audience at Camp Waupaca's Fine Arts Center (Mess Hall).

The costumes from the 18th Century were appropriate for the occasion, the American Revolution. The kite flying by Ben Franlikin, Washington's coin toss across the Delaware, and Commonwealth Edison putting

(Continued Page 7)

HOCKEY HUDDLE

By Manny Pucks

It was Hockey time again on the basketball court and this game started very slowly. Teams were fairly even and scoring came late in the second period & third period. Little, but mighty Ron Slare proved to be not only a defensive goalie, but also a fantastic shot for he racked up two goals against the White Team. Donny Schwartz who scored three goals assisted by David Grossman was good but just not enough. Andy Pfau produced two saves that stopped an explosive comeback by the whites.

Adam Fleicher played goalie for the white team with defensive man John Hellerman. Joel Feiger scored one goal, and Glen Traeger scored two goals; one given by a penalty shot against John Hellerman for high sticking. Donny Schwartz was injured late in the first period with minor knee scrapes, but returned late in the second period and was the high scorer for both teams. Again a good game was played on both sides.

NEW LAKE BUTTE DE MANNY SWELLS!

(From wire reports)
& M. Lurie

Heavy quantities of liquid sunshine cleared the air of the Fourth of July celebrations and also put Lake Stratton into a record high point making the beach better to swim at.

However, a new lake was formed near the flagpole and was named Butte de Manny after their famous Lake Butte Des Mortes near Oshkosh. This lake is a parto-ter-cer-glaciatic lake, meaning that it only appears when it rains real bad!!

A spokesman for the Waupaca meterological agency said that all normal activities would be resumed as soon as the light rains subsided.

Manny, the namesake for the new lake made one of his famous collect calls "upstairs" and the rains promptly stopped, leaving out to their activities.

Counsellor Corner

MIKE LURIE

By Jeff Pearl

Mike came to camp in 1970 when he was 11 years old. Every year he came for 8 weeks. In 1971 Mike edited the paper with Ron Lavin's brother, Steve Lavine. He has been in the Odd Couple, You're a Good Man Charlie Brown, drama classes, and two of the fourth of July Plays. He likes the humor of Mel Brooks, Carl Reiner and enjoys most comedies.

He like the job of coaching and is currently a sophomore at Oakton Community College in his sophomore year.

He is bossy in the cabin and makes all the campers go to bed right at lights out. We wish him good luck in Cabin five with his co-counsellor, Allen Steinmetz.

Mike works in the office a great deal and answers phones, makes announcements & in general is helpful.

(Review of play, contin.)

Ben Franklin under surveillance for trying to make his own electricity. Andy Savitt, Joel Feinstein & Bobby Frank played the Con Ed men with relish.

The settings were OK & the Lighting by Mike Euer added warmth to the action of the play.

The final song, the Egg ran a chill down the spines of all and everyone sang the last number with feeling.

As we saw in the play a birth of a new nation, we hopefully will see the re-birth of Broadway Calibre Theatre at the Tyrone Guppy Theatre under the able direction of the Waupaca Art Players.

*****

Word Find

by Adam Fleischer

(Find the first name of counsellors)

CWPRTACF

TLFFEJQR

EWIDROGO

DPAFYARN

ALANFPAY

LUAPSTRU

TRUKTSTQ

QRSBNHOC

NEWS FROM THE SADDLE

By Buck Meoff
(alias G. Lamm)

Well, the riding season is in full swing. The trails are green & clear and the horses are rearing to go. Many boys are signed up this year and leave each day at second period returning just after the beginning of lunch period.

The most noteworthy thing that happened this year at the Saddle Club is the appearance of a White-tailed fox. This friendly critter has been seen during the morning rides where it can be found lurking in the brush or sometimes on the trail right ahead of the riders. He is friendly enough and we all keep a respectful distance from the critter.

The people at the stables are real friendly and have always been most accomodating to Camp Waupaca.

Well, that is about all from the saddle now. Until the next time, this is Buck Meoff saying a big bye bye and may your riding not be a pain in the butt!

WOULD YOU BELIEVE...

that...Ron Sklare's eyelashes are his own that Andy Pfau is a linebacker for the Bears that Pete Jones likes to color in buddy tags... that Ted Haberman is a President of a Fraternity...that Dave Weindling is a candy importer that Allen Steinmetz is a Sumo Wrestler during the winter...that Rob Garfinkle doesn't like electronics...that the Kitchen gal Linda Falagatten gets sand in her belly button when she goes swimming?... (Who wants to check next time-Ed.) That the Rec Hall tourney will have winners...that Dan Schaffer has a sun tan?... that Mike Roskin likes to dance...that Eric Kaplan has a real voice or that Andy Slavitt doesn't have one?...that Rich Turiel knows how to drive...that Phil Goldberg gets along well with Howie Bramson...that Andy Sirota reads Highlites for children...That Lee Multack trys to rub milk into his "fuzz" under his nose to make his moustache grow faster...that Mike Stern doesn't smile?