SPORTS SPECTACULAR ON!

(WPI--Waupaca Press International) By Wamma Play :

: EARLY BIRD TO
DEPART ON MONDAY!

Once again the Sports Spectacular graces the Parent's Day festivities. A two-day frenzy of competition of all kinds began on Saturday and will culminate in an awesome Pursuit relay on Sunday night.

The camp has been divided into four teams. Each bears a direction of the compass—North, East, West and South. Boys of all ages compete in activities that range from baseball to horseshoes, from singing to soccer and from here to there.

Yesterday, (Saturday) the festivities began with the appearance of four visitors. Uncle Sam came to represent the North, the Statue of Liberty to represent the East, Tex Longhorn with a calf wowed for the West, and Jed Cornpone favored the South. They argued the merits of each direction and let the Camp decide through the games.

Yep! On Monday Morning the big "yellow piece of machinery, a Bus" will take some fifty people on one of the highlights of the camping schedule. The Early Bird Trip to the Wisconsin Dells.

The Early Bird program is for boys who sign up to attend Camp Waupaca before December 31. This entitles them to an Early Bird Jacket and the great trip to the Dells.

Boys who go can look forward to the Tommy Bartlett Water Show, the "ducks," the big amusement park, Familyland, and the waterslide, not to mention the beaches, swimming and the cook-outs.

Wayne Totter, Tripping Director, says we can look forward to a great time as usual at the Dells this year. He warns tho not to eat too much of that fabulous fudge!

DEAR BLABBY!

By K.H. & assisted
this week by D.B.

Dear Blabby,
My bunkmate laughs
in his sleep and keeps me awake. What can I do?
Sleepless Comic
Dear Comic,
Peel onions in front
of his face so instead of
that dreadful laugh you
will hear nerve wracking
crying.

Dear Blabby,
I have a roommate who
has a bad habit of spitting. It grosses me out
so what should I do?
Grossed Out.
Dear Gross:
Plug up his mouth so
he has to learn how to
spit out of his ears.

Jaws Comes to Stratton

By Joel Feinstein

(In our last issue we found that there was a shark in Lake Stratton that's been eating the people who swim in the Lake. The people have called in the authorities & now here's the second and final chapter.)

They had hit something! The Captain had noticed something on the radar screen earlier that was heading at them at 30 miles per hour. CRASH! "Captain, the boat is sinking!"

"Well, try & swim."

"But Captain, I don't know how to swim!"

"Well, good luck, George!"

The next morning the men began to fill as much dynamite as they could in the bottom of the sinking boat. The wick was waterproof so it won't go out. Ready, hold your ears,

COUNSELLOR CORNER

By Lee Roth

CURT CALKINS is trying to improve his strength by the end of camp. Curt who lives in Cabin 8 also likes running. "I try to run each and every morning," Curt told me. He really enjoys having so much athletic equipment here to use for his own work-outs. He wishes that more of the campers would take advantage of this equipment & the facilities for body building. His other ambition for the summer is to learn how to waterski better. "Why not! I've got some creative waterski instructors to help me!"

Curt is 18 and was born in Portage Wisconsin. He has lived in California and is here at Waupaca for his first summer.

(JAWS-Continued)

Light the fuse...ssssss
BOOM!-Yeah, the shark has been blown up! And finally the shark no longer bothers the campers or counsellors at Waupaca!

EDITORIALS

Hello. My name
is Eric Kaplan and I am here to talk about
the mosquitos in Camp.

They are horrible
and they are driving
us all crazy!

They crawl up your nose and down your
shirt and then they
sting you and keep pestering you until
they are swatted and
killed.

Some suggestions
on how to kill them
are to get 42 million
praying mantises to
eat them or buy an
automatic mosquito
killer that will swat
them whenever they go near you. This is Eric Kaplan signing
off.

Mr. Kaplan is a distinguished Editorial
writer & has written
on other subjects such as the chipmunks in Camp. He has also appeared on Waupaca
Closed Circuit TV as

MOVIE REVIEW

By Paul Harris
& Craig Steinberg

Capricorn One

This is a movie based on a government hoax. Three astronauts who are going to Mars are taken off their space ship because their oxygen won't last long enough. NASA launches the ship while people still think the astronauts are on it. Some parts of the movie are funny and others are thrilling. One of the most exciting scenes is when an employee of NASA finds out something is suspicious. The government kills him and tries to cover up his death. His friend finds out and tries to find the astronauts. It stars O.J. Simpson, Elliot Gould & Hal Holbrook.

THE WEATHER

By Ken Lapins.

In San Diego it snowed so hard you could fry eggs on the sidewalk. In Skokie it rained so hard someone went rafting down Skokie Boulevard. In Chicago it hit a new low of 60 below. Oak Street Beach was still mobbed! In Kentucky, it is so cold the Good Humor man did five rounds and sold natural snow. President Carter recalled Letsy Ross to knit blankets. It was so cold in Washington. But, it never rains at Camp Waupaca says Manny!
