

COUNSELORS WHIP FATHERS - 15 TO 8

SATURDAY (July 17)--Behind the remarkable pitching of Bob Otto, an aggregation of hard hitting counselors whipped the fathers in a linament-riddled softball game, 15-8. Counselor Lenny Krasnowsky hit a line drive home-run to spark the staffers offensive attack. Skip donated his services to the counselors by playing with the dads.

PASTERNAK CHAMP

Ted Turns Trick; 1st Time Ever

SUNDAY (July 11)--FOR THE FIRST TIME IN CAMP WAUPACA'S HISTORY, A CAMPER TURNED IN A PERFECT TRACK MEET SCORE FOR THE SECOND WEEK IN A ROW TODAY, AS CABIN SIX'S TED PASTERNAK ACCOMPLISHED THIS REMARKABLE FEAT.

Pasternack won the four events comprising the meet as he had done last Sunday.

Events are the broad jump, 40-yard dash, baseball throw, and shot put.

Ted, who is spending his first season at Camp, has now achieved the enviable record of having never lost a track meet event--in fact, he's never even placed second.

Aside from Pasternack's perfect score which naturally gave him first place in individual scoring honors, other scoring co-incidences were also recorded on the individual scoring marker.

Second place was won by Cabin two's Matty Spagat, with 13 points; third went to Cabin seven's Mike Seltzer with 10 points.

Spagat won second last week with the identical total. Seltzer moved up from a fifth position spot which he occupied last week.

Matty Spagat led Cabin two, amassing 13 points.

Bob Levin, Bill Martay and Jeff Silverstone paced Cabin three gaining 23 points between them. Levin and Martay accounted for eight point totals apiece; Jeff scored seven.

Cabins two and three each scored a total of 30.

Cabin six, paced by Ted Pasternack, was third in cabin scoring with 28. It was seven points less that six got last week, when they won cabin scoring honors with 35 points.

Cabin seven retained fourth.

Waterfront Reaches Goal; Every Boy A Swimmer

MONDAY (July 26)--Camp Waupaca's waterfront director, Wally Gembica, announced today that the waterfront had reached its annual goal, and that every camper is now a swimmer. Gembica stated that the waterfront staff will now switch to their No. 2 annual goal: "Every Boy an ADVANCED swimmer." With four weeks left to the 1954 camp season, this goal, too, may be soon realized.

Aided by an improved and enlarged pier system this season, the waterfront has been going full steam ahead since the first day of camp, when a general swim was the order of the day soon after the boys had unpacked.

Camp Waupaca divides its swimmers and lake area into three sections: "Beginners," "Intermediates," and "Advanced."

By saying that every camper is now a swimmer, it is understood that every boy has passed his "Beginner's" test and is qualified to enter into "Intermediate" water.

Wally is also conducting a Junior Life Saving Class for the older boys who are in the "Advanced" division.

Dave Davis, Jordi Rothelior, and Bob Naiman assist Wally.

DUBROW LONE Brave; PICK 12 PLEDGES

SATURDAY (July 24)--Amidst burning embers of a waning campfire, the Waupaca Braves' highest Chieftan, Skipper, tapped camper Ira DuBrow thrice upon the shoulder, signifying that DuBrow now enters the elite group of ideal campers: the Waupaca Braves.

Earlier in the evening, when the campfire in the sacred Brave Ring was still burning brightly, Skipper tapped 12 boys lightly once--meaning that they had been chosen for Brave "pledges," and were being closely watched for possible future elevation to Bravedom.

Brave pledges are Dan Pastern, Jeff Hirschberg, Howie Strauss, Jim Martay, Mike Seltzer, Paul Levy, Steve Atlas, Mike Miller, Howie Pizer, Lance Bolenik and Richie Lesak.

Braves and Brave pledges are chosen twice each season. Brave pledges are chosen for this honor by the Braves during a secret meeting, while a Brave himself may reach this height through 1 of 2 manners: he may either be chosen by the Braves, or he may work his way up toward Bravedom through the merit-feather system, which is used extensively here. A "Big Chief" automatically becomes a Waupaca Brave.

BOYS MEET IN COUNCIL

FRIDAY (July 24)
--A long planned idea took shape this afternoon, when Camp Waupaca's War Council met for the first time in the Rosen Bowl. The War Council is anything but what its name implies, since it is a form of student council, where the Chief, Scribe and Cabin sagamores get together and discuss Camp projects and problems.

With the guidance of a member of the counseling staff who acts in the capacity of advisor, the campers conduct a "Little Government," bringing the meeting's decisions to their respective cabins where they once again discuss them, with the Sagamores in charge.

Sagamores are: Cabin 1 Sam Leavitt, Cabin 2 Mat Spagat, Cab. 3- Steven Finkel, Cab. 4- Mike Wexler, Cab. 5- Howie Lovinger, Cab. 6- Herb Beller, Cab. 7- Mike Seltzer, Cab. 8- Richie Friedman.

Chief: Jim Perlman; Scribe: Ted Pasternack.

SATURDAY (July 24)--"Indian Week" reached its heights this morning, as the entire camp participated in an all camp track meet-----Indian style.

The four events which replaced the usual track meet events were the tug of war, reoster fights, two handed pull and the hog tie.

Sioux faced Iroquois once again, as Ranger---Commando Watermelon League competition was forgotten for the Indian style week-end.

Double canteen was the reward for the winning team of the Indian track meet.

FRIDAY (July 23)--Camp Waupaca officially opened its Indian week-end this evening, as a giant bonfire was staged in the north field, and each cabin became a separate tribe complete with their own head-dresses of various color combinations.

Each of the eight cabins created their own color scheme to represent their tribe, and each man in the cabin adopted an Indian name for the weekend.

A COMPLETE LIST OF INDIAN NAMES FOR EACH CAMPER, AS WELL AS THE TRIBAL NAMES AND COLOR COMBINATIONS OF ALL EIGHT CABINS CAN BE FOUND AS A SPECIAL SUPPLEMENT TO THIS EDITION OF THE WARRIOR.

The opening bonfire was highlighted by a special report from each Sagamore, telling how his tribe came to pick their name and colors. After this, each boy rose and stated his Indian name.

Chief Jim Perlman and Scribe Ted Pasternack presided over the reports.

Feathers were worn during the entire Indian week-end. Braves and Sagamores had special feathers added
