The 1978 Competition World Series featured seven division match-ups for the best of seven series. In each division, the official named one or two boys to be the recipient of the 1978 Brian Piccolo Sportsmanship Award. These boys demonstrated outstanding leadership, cooperation and desire throughout the series. Congratulations to all of the sportsmanship winners and all of the team champions.

On behalf of the entire camp, I would like to extend a special thank-you to the CIT statisticians who worked long hours in recording and compiling the team and individual statistics from this summer's competition games. Their patience with officials whose score sheets were handed in late or in some obscure foreign language was very often astounding. Thank-you for a job very well done:
