TIME CAPSULE

A Stream of Collective Consciousness

...the ground is asleep...nature has called in its comfortable temperatures and all around is frozen and hard...Lake Stratton is solid ice, folks drive their snowmobiles over it...soon spring begins to edge its way through the bleak grey skies and some life returns--grudgingly the winter turns to spring--Somebody calls from Lincolnwood and finds Warren up at camp early...he has hired nothing but the finest workers from nearby Waupaca to clear and rake leaves from the camp...Soon John Morris and Todd Coers arrive to help Warren ready camp for the arriving campers...they are treated to delicious meals at great cost...Salami, salami, salami...a special group arrives early to enjoy the wonderful Waupaca woods...Gregg Feinstein wakes up one day and says, "Five more days and I'll be at Camp!"...The staff is busily preparing camp and visiting the local libraries...Sunday arrives and Benji Schwartz rolls out of bed and yawns, "Not yet! I'm still tired!"...The giant silver buses pull up to Montgomery Wards and we see some old familiar faces...even a counsellor who used to teach at camp and is now sending his son! Welcome, Howie Resnick, is this your son, Robert?...brothers come to see their little brothers off, "Good riddance, runt!...then with a night roar, the buses depart right on schedule off to the wonderful woods of central Wisconsin...The staff play a softball game or two and meet all around athlete, Al Schambow...Warren decides that more hay is necessary to finish the archery field, out comes more locals with plenty to drink..Around Milwaukee snacks are served: M & M's and Pepsi...lots of stories on the buses about old times, new girlfriends, and more tall tales.some high school and Jr. high yearbooks are produced to prove girlfriends exist..Soon the time melts away and the buses pull through the front gate...the staff wake up, err, come to meet the buses and help the campers get their first smell of fresh air since last summer...Brett Freed smiles for the first time...Mike greets the new and old campers, "Welcome y'all to Camp Waupaca. We'll be eatin' in a few minutes so we'll get you your cabins and then WORSH up for lunch!"...New cabins are assigned, we take bunks and shelves, unpack those little surprises Mom or Dad left for us and we're off for a new summer of excitement...yes Gabe you are in a bigger cabin, no, Dan Oseran, it doesn't have air conditioning...We have rain the first night but have a movie...raffle winners include Alex

Jacobs, John Milgram, Jon Goldman, Sandy and Lenny Kass, and surprised winner Al Schambow!..

..CITs announce their new Republic and bring their flag on a plunger...Stu salutes the dawn of a new empire...other cabins soon join in with the CITs, or with the tyrants from Cabin 7...Annette announces running club will start, "Leave a white sock tied around the end of your bed post and we will wake you up."..Cabin 6 goes to sleep naked so the nurse will see them when she comes through the cabins...Andy Harris has a bright wardrobe including shirts that light up in the dark, (like Warshauer's socks)... "Attention: Will the camper who left the underwear on the flagpole get it down, Oh, is Robert Resnick still in them?...Let him down from the flagpole...thank you"...Dave Euer rips two pairs of pants in 3 days...watch that mid-rift bulge, David...Cabin 5 comes to flag as Preppies one morning, led by Rob Heath, (collar up, Rob)...staff goes to town and Joe Wood gets smashed on two kiddie cocktails...Winners of the Red White and Blue track meet include Dave Costello, Ed Schotz, Ryan Jacobsen, Jeremy Fisher, and A. J. Levin...by the way, AJ, what does A. J. stand for? Aaron Joshua?...CITs to town and meet Bodacious Brenda and her nice friend, Sarah...we see her in the Picture Post magazine the next week...It's Waupaca Squares with Fernando Llamas (Eric Fine), Bob Hope (Stu), and guests...Ander Lurie gets special wake ups every morning from his counsellor...Howie Fleischer gets special wake ups too---with a broom...Al Schambow announces that Jeff Pee-Tack wins at Archery...Costello gets a surprise visit from "Thump Drag" one night (Everman really scares the daylights out of him!...Twice)

...New competition teams...the Sewees and the Metz...(Careful of the reference to Warren, now boys)...Tom Lehn is Golfball Willie for Hobo Night and it takes him over an hour to figure out what Schwartze means...Hobo games...Rubin wins--David Mann has great costume, too...Hansie goes on a rampage and nips at everyone...crawls all over Jeff Ptak...Kate and Chris arrive as our visitors from across the lake, right Gary & Steve?...Steve meets them by almost running them over while skiing...We have windsailing today on the waterfront, boys...Gary says, "How am I doing?" as he floats across the lake..Need a lift home?...Andy Zann hits new record by shooting six arrows into the hay or over the top of the Archery field in ONE free time!..

...Lenny announces, "We'll have a new exciting game of R0000000F Ball at free time...perhaps some GAGA as
