

DUNGEONS & DRAGONS

This year at Camp Waupaca we decided to try something new, so we blindly started a Dungeons and Dragons class. The class started out with campers coming in with dreams of being "ringers, magic-users, or cunning thieves." These were not the only roles they could play, but they were the most popular.

In our first group on Mondays-Wednesdays-Fridays, David Bluestone, Lukas Gelman & Ricky Manelis started off on an adventure to rid a city of famine. Though David & Lukas are veteran players, Ricky kept up with the pace right up to the group's demise in a courtroom! Yes, the long arm of justice finished them off.

The 5th Hour class included Scott Barbakoff, Brett Schwartz, Brad Rosen, Tony Schatz, Brad Schneider, Kevin Berger, & Mike Slade of the "Killers." This group rid a town of an evil wizard and broke up a weapons and smuggling ring headed up by the evil "Scarface."

The Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday classes were good groups to match the M-W-F groups. They were the Dungeon Masters, Michael Margolese, Scott Macomber, Andy Evans, Steve Aaronson, Adam Cantor, Danny Drexler, & Eugene Park. They tangled with Scarface, but were not as fortunate. Better luck next time.

The other T-Th-Sa group, The "Medieval Warriors" consisted of Alex Jacobs, Matt Silverstein, Jon Newman, Cole Klapman, Chad Spivak, Brian Schneider, & Marc Stein. This group got the farthest of any group. They partied on a Viking ship, braved the dangers of Mt. Arasmus, and ended up ruling a kingdom. Great job, guys!

Yes, the Dungeons and Dragons class was a hit and I would especially like to thank my two assistant Dungeon Masters, Al Genender & Jason Page. Without their help I would have gone crazy trying to keep up. Thanks for a great job.

To all the groups, I hope to save your characters and build them up and maybe bring them back next year and we'll go again! Have a great winter!

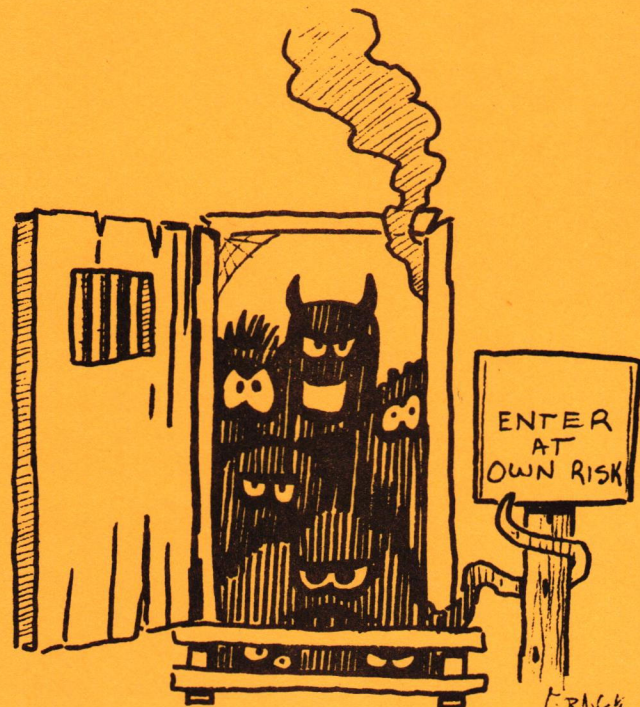

Premier Dungeon Master,

David Euer

Assistant Dungeon Masters,

Al Genender

Jason Page

Ga Ga was a new class offered this summer at Camp Waupaca and only for the second four weekers. It was a very popular class. The game is similar to bombardment except much safer as contact can only be made below the knee. Keeping the ball low assures safety.

I had 71 boys in my four classes. The top scorers in each class were Ryan Lefton, Danny Schwab, Ed Schotz, & Scott Orzoff. Top scorers over all were Mike Mandel, Ed Schotz & Scott Orzoff. Mike was second in his class but had a better record than anyone else.

Highlights include displays by Ed Schotz when he was put out by Brian Levin. Ed whipped his glasses yet again! Eric Goldstein accidentally tried to jump over towering Jason Drexler but didn't quite make it.

Well, that's about it for now until next year when the excitement in the Rec Hall starts all over again!

Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday 4th

Scott Orzoff	2.250
Keith Simon	.875
Ryan Rosenthal	.625
Mike Mandel	1.875
Ryan Engel	.375
Mike Schneider	1.000
Brian Eggener	.285
Jordy Pockross	.857
Ira Rosen	1.125
Greg Cohen	.500
Adam Liebman	.750
Ricky Manelis	.285
Mike Fine	.666
Eric Weiss	1.000
Matt Abrams	1.666
Andy Sternberg	.142
Justin Hirsch	1.166
Scott Zeller	.250

Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday 3rd

Chad Lurie	1.555
Adam Levko	.250
Brian Levin	1.333
Brian Millman	.888
Scott Gold	1.333
Jon Venetos	.625
Mitch Gordon	.750
Eric Goldstein	1.000
Danny Barbakoff	.666
Ricky Spritz	.333
David Brown	1.444
Matt Stock	1.444
Jeff Bloomberg	1.333
Ed Schotz	2.144
Jordan Batt	.750
Aaron Siegal	.500
Brad Eisenberg	.750
Lee Eisner	.666
Scott Rubin	1.000

Steve Wanty,
Ga Ga Wonder

Monday-Wednesday-Friday 3rd

David Weitzenfeld	.500
Andy Evans	1.000
Eugene Park	1.000
Bryan Hoffman	.500
Ryan Lefton	1.600
Ken Mazursky	.666
Paul Hollander	.333
Matt Glick	1.500
Steve Millman	.500

Monday-Wednesday-Friday 5th

Jeremy Stolberg	.428
Jon Rubenstein	.571
Jeff Sime	.166
Neal Goby	1.142
Scott Hammerman	1.142
Danny Schwab	1.833
Jason Goldberg	.333
Brian Jacobs	1.714
Seth Silverman	1.428
Scott Pinsky	1.285
Eric Saltzman	.333
Jon Sills	.666
Jason Drexler	.750
Andy Eisenberg	.666
Brian Schneider	.333
Danny Shapiro	.333

The averages on this page represent the numbers of times a player remained in the game per class period. (Averages are listed only for scores of .250 and over)

GOLF

The Golf season of 1986 was a fantastic one! The classes consisted of basic instruction on the fundamentals of the sport, playing the scenic, plush course of Camp Waupaca's own Country Club, and contests in areas such as chipping and driving.

Scott Rubin was the winner of the driving contest with a booming 200 yard shot. AJ Levin won the chipping contest. The "broken club award" goes to Bryan Hoffman.

The first four weeks of golf saw classes comprised of Jon Gordon, Mike Jelinek, Jeff Ptak, Bryan Hoffman, Dan Oseran, Ryan Jacobson, Scott Levine, Al Genender, Jon Seed, Scott Fox, AJ Levin, Ed Schotz, Scott Rubin, Eric Goldstein, Justin Parker, Ricky Spritz, and Eric Fine.

The golf course filled up at the start of the second four weeks with such duffers as Scott Eggener, Andy Sternberg, Loren Friedman, Jon Sills, Jason Lewis, Joel Robbins, Andy Kaplan, Marc Hirsch, and, when available, Chris Thake, Jason Charles and Eric Goldstein.

There were faithful campers who strived to improve and master the game of golf. This was made evident by Andy Kaplan who, after almost every shot, would holler something and throw down his club.

Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday class saw golfers Josh Levitt, Seth Silverman, Paul Hollander, Brad Eisenberg, Brad Schneider, Kevin Berger, Brett Weisman, Neal Goby, Jason Harris, Marc Weiner, Danny Schwab, Eric Waxman & Jeremy Stolberg. Most of the golfers were dedicated to the game and desired to learn more about golf. Paul Hollander was one of the youngest "linksters" and he showed fine skill and potential. The foursome of Brad Eisenberg, Brad Schneider, Kevin Berger & Brett Weissman was always playing a heated match during class. Danny Schwab will always be remembered for his line, "I'll hit the ball if you go get it.."

During the second four weeks a golf tournament was started at the Country Club. Scott Rubin won the tournament in a remarkable 28 shots (on eight holes). Eric Goldstein came in second, and Joel Robbins a close third.

The time spent on the golf course was filled with excitement, fun and some great golf. I enjoyed working with the campers in golf, and would like to thank them all for making the days interesting and productive.

Tom Ames,
Resident Golf Pro,
Waupaca Country Club.

MINI BIKES

What a summer! What a summer! These 8 weeks of Mini Bikes went "speeding by." The season was filled with excitement, thrills, spills, and new adventure.

There were new additions to the Mini Bike world at Camp this year. To compliment our finely tuned batallion of cycles, General Desnet added 2 brand new Honda 50's. That action brought our Honda family to a total of five bikes---the most ever! We also created a new CIT trail.

For those of you who think that safety should be stressed, I couldn't agree with you more. New standards were set which brought about such statements as, "We didn't do that LAST year," or "What do you mean I lose my turn?"

The Mini Bike classes were "blessed" this year with the presence of the Parker Brothers (not of board game empire) Crazy Corey Fisher, rockin' Rick Richker, and jumpin' Jason Baer. Also occasionally we did see a "brief" showing by Howie Fleischer. Great feats of courage were demonstrated by Robert Resnick, Jason Lewis, Ryan Kaufman, & David Brown. The Mini Bike program was so famous, we attracted an adventure seeking individual from Germany, Oliver Haase. This eight weeks also saw, "It was awesome" Adam Moschin become an assistant. Randy Loeb enjoyed his class as he rode almost non-stop on the big bike every fourth hour.

There was a large number of our younger campers who excelled in their riding skills. These boys had impressive driving records: Steve Millman, Jordan Batt, Brad Eisenberg, Aaron Siegel, Scott Zeller, Mike Rosenberg, Zachary "Pumpkin" Strauss, & Loren Friedman.

We had a very fun, action packed summer of Mini Bikes! I was able to catch some sun and learn a few things myself. These memories we've created will be with us for a long time. One I'll never forget is Steve Aaronson asking, "Can I please take the new CIT trail?"

Mitch, "Safety First"
Lautenslager

NATURE

Last year's Nature class boasted about its large number of boys enrolled, 12. This year there were 5 classes with no less than 8 in each. One of the classes had 16 in it!

We did much the same as last year but added a few adventures. The classes enjoyed fishing. Justin Hirsch, Don Feinstein, Rick Manelis, Lukas Gelman, & Andy Evans were the big anglers

The hikes we took were exciting with the help of story and myth. Rob Resnick, Adam Levko, Evan Swidler, & Loren Friedman liked the stories a lot! David Weitzenfeld, Kyle Gams, & Bobby Schwartz were the turtle hunters along with hunting every other green thing.

We did take a few trips to the top of mighty "Frito Lay" Mountain and learned how potatoes are grown. Jason Lewis, Loren Friedman, & Evan Swidler all hiked bravely while hearing stories about Silas Cropsy. We also hiked around the swamp behind Cabin 15 and saw the neat trail the CITs had made.

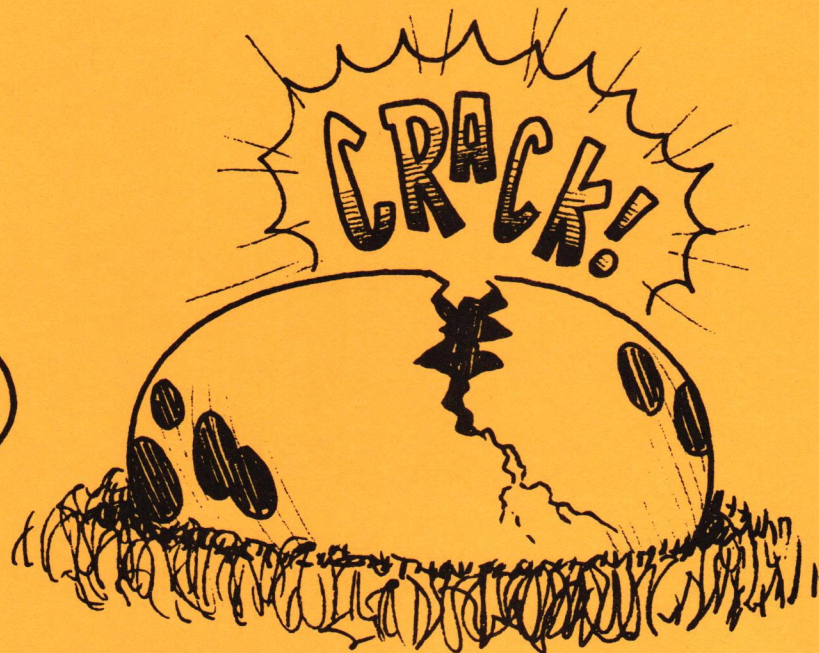

The zoo we went to was fun for all. A nearby game preserve has many animals including llamas, lion cubs, prairie dogs, and goats. Andy Kaplan & Josh Salter loved the rhesus monkey. He was a real show off. Along with the other animals, the bear cub that bit Jim McMahon was a very popular attraction.

The fish hatchery was lots of fun also. Any time we got out of camp on a field trip seemd like fun! But we did have to hold on to our "Yellow Pass" (Courtesy of Purvis R. Fletcher).

Danny Barbakoff, Jon Newman, & Cole Klapman really liked the rabbits & the other animals in the Nature Center.

Over all, I think everyone loved the class. I know I enjoyed having the boys in my class.

Jeff Herschleb
Nature Dude

PHOTOGRAPHY

This year things were "picture perfect" for the Camp Waupaca photography department. We had many pictures taken and developed. The first four weeks, Andy Zann dominated the class with his unending photographic knowledge and equipment. Also showing great skill and interest were Jon Seed & Matt Silverstein.

The second four weeks saw the classes expand by 50 times from the first four's enrollment. Jeremy Parker, Jason Charles, Jon Newman, & Alex Jacobs, showed great interest and promise. Other outstanding shutter bugs were Josh Levitt, Jon Venetos, Ryan Rosenthal, Brett Kaufman, Scott Kaufman, Scott Zeller, Paul Hollander, Jason Drexler, Jeremy Stolberg, Jon Rubenstein, Ben Barnett, and, when he showed up, Chris Thake.

The one outstanding feature of the Photography class was the Wall. On it were such memorable names as "Scratch," "The Bird," "King Thump," "Pooper Scooper," "The Dad," "Ramon," "J.P." "The Cukor," and "The Pizza Patrol."

The Proud Photoman
From East Prairie

David Euer

(Ablly assisted by SW, DC, SR, JT, LE, EG)

RIFLERY

Well, it's another summer at Camp Waupaca, and the smell of gun powder is in the air. After expertly sighting the rifles, I began the summer by making the range ready for the boys. The first few days went slowly, as first-year campers learned the finer points of shooting. There were also some "old-timer" marksmen who returned, such as Scott Rubin, Eric Goldstein, and Mike Jelinek.

This year, I learned many new things from campers, such as Jon Seed's new way to post a target, Robert Resnick's new way to aim and shoot, and Mike Shea teaching me the ins and outs of an assault rifle. Mike Jelinek also taught me a new way to shoot standing, and Scott Rubin taught Rob Resnick about the CIT gun. This year we also had a German shooter named Oliver Haase. He taught me a few new phrases in German, like magazine.

Some of our more successful shooters included Eugene Park, Ira Rosen, and Kyle Gams. There was also a group of campers known to me as "Rambo children;" they loved to "shoot them guns." They were: Jon Newman, Eugene Park, Matt Silverstein, Brian Soifer, Jason Harris, Oliver Haase, Eric Marder, Ed Schotz, Matt Glick, Benjy Schwartz, Josh Reich, Ira Rosen, Rick Spritz, Chris Thake, Mike Jelinek, Brett Freed, Rick Richker, and Bobby Hirsch. This year, the special "Wildman" award goes to Kyle Gams.

I would also like to thank my assistants this year. They were: Scott Rubin, Eric Goldstein, Mike Jelinek, Lee Eisner, Andy Kaplan, Peter Berk, Oliver Haase, Ed Schotz, Jon Gordon (the only CIT to ever sit on the bench), and Benjy Schwartz.

The lists of names which follow represent the many awards and rankings earned by the boys at Camp Waupaca. Each signifies accomplishment, and hours of dedicated work.

Pro Marksman

Andy Zann
Eric Waxman
Brett Weissman
Rick Richker
Kevin Berger

Marksman

Jon Venetos
Evan Swidle
Brian Schneider
Steve Millman
Mike Margolese
Brett Kaufman
Jon Gordon
Matt Glick

Marksman 1st

Jon Rubinstein
Danny Kaiserman
Peter Berk
Jon Newman
Josh Reich

Sharpshooter

Randy Loeb
David Klow
Mitch Gordon
Chad Firsell
David Brown
Josh Abrams
Brian Soifer
Jason Harris
Ryan Engel

Bar 1

Adam Wolff
Marc Stein
Jeff Fagel
Jon Shulkin
Rick Manelis
Matt Silverstein
Jonathon Sills
Ed Schotz

SKIING

It would be difficult to imagine camp without water skiing. The popularity of this sport has remained number one with over 90% of our campers; and certainly this year was no exception. During the second half of our season, the ski department made it possible for more than 110 boys to ski each day. More than 30 new beginners skied for their first time on beautiful spring fed, crystal clear, sand bottom, glacier formed Lake Stratton. In addition to new skiers, other campers were busy improving their skills in slaloming, tricking, and two skis.

In order to ski 110 campers each day it took not one, not two, but three boats to accomplish this monumental task. Traveling to a slightly larger Stratton Lake II through an adjoining channel with the third boat soon became the trip that many of our boys competed for; "I wanna go to the other lake today, come on, it's my turn, you guys got to go yesterday!". In the meantime the other two boats remained in our lake dropping off boys by the ski dock and picking up new ones. While three boat drivers were pulling the boys, our other staff were busy getting boys ready to go, "get your ski jacket on, one that fits", "stay off the dock", "we need another spotter", "put your skis on", "get in the water", "swim out away from the dock", "keep your tips up...knees bent...arms straight", "don't lean over your skis." Our instructors helped campers in the water and took attendance, and kept records of the new skills learned. Remember boys, that even with the very best equipment we can provide, it is meaningless without the best instruction possible. I would hope that you would agree that we had the best of both during the summer of 1986.

Some Memorable Events During the Summer of '86

The ascension of the Monoliths in the dining room/the Jobe slalom ski set 767.

Ty rearranges two of our new ski lines.

Jason Charles and Justin Parker finish the Olympic marathon conoe race on the ski dock!

Zeus walks on water to open the Olympics.

Steve Wanty pulls out 8 sand bags and repairs the eye hook on the blue boat by compressing his body into a very small area approximately six inches wide.

Jeff builds a new extension to our ski dock. Thanks Jeff!

Cliff B. arrives and wears his long velvet pants everyday.

Dane and Karl continue practicing aligning and aiming at the ski dock with the boats for docking. Keep practicing guys!

Ed Schotz gets up backwards on trik skis.

Ed Schotz and Gregg Feinstein become Expert Skiiers.

The Parker Brothers, (Justin, Jeremy, and Jordan) learn to ski for the first time at Camp Waupaca.

Rob H. pesters Warren into finally teaching him how to ski.

The annual water ski show is a big hit. Thanks to Cliff for organizing it. Thanks Dave and Ty for driving. Thanks also to Bob Chase for coming all the way here from the Dells to be our guest emcee.

Dave H. Get out of town!

Two firsts: two campers who shall remain anonymous performed the unbelievable...spending five minutes in the water putting the ski boots on backwards and turning the ski handle in various directions while skiing in an attempt to steer his skis.

Hansie, the Wanty dog does a swan dive off of the ski boat and swims 50 feet to shore.

I hope you had fun reading this; we had a lot of fun trying to remeber as many things as possible for you to learn from and just laugh. Thanks again to a really fine staff and a great group of campers!

Warren Metzdorff
Waterfront Director

Ty, Dave, Karl, Dane, and Cliff
Water Ski Instructors

NEW SKIERS FOR 1986

Jason Drexler
Ryan Engel
Howard Newman
Zach Strauss
Mike Fine
Jonathan Sills
Ross Friedman
Andy Etinger
David Engle
Justin Hirsch
Brad Schneider
Matt Abrams
Brian Schneider
Danny Kaiserman
Jason Harris
Bobby Hirsch

Corey Harris
Mike Wohlstadter
Matt Glick
Robert Berland
Marc Weiner
Randy Loeb
Scott Segal
Ben Carbonargi
Jon Provus
Oliver Haase
Mike Goldberg
John Shulkin
Jeremy Parker
Jordan Parker
Justin Parker
Michael Christ Jr.

CAMPERS WHO COMPLETED RATING REQUIREMENTS AS PRESCRIBED
BY THE AMERICAN WATER SKI ASSOCIATION

3RD CLASS CAMP SKIER

Don Feinstein
Matt Abrams
Bryan Schneider
Adam Kroll
Ryan Sturch

Mitch Gordon
Mike Goldberg
Jason Belenke
Jordan Parker

Brad Eisenberg
Jon Provus
Bobby Hirsch
Josh Reingold

2ND CLASS CAMP SKIER

Josh Spitz
Steve Millman
Michael Christ Jr.

Jason Goldberg
Cole Klapman
Justin Parker

Russell Brenner
Jason Abraham

1ST CLASS CAMP SKIER

Brett Schwartz

Jeremy Parker

Gil Porat

EXPERT CAMP SKIER

Gregg Feinstein

Ed Schotz

TENNIS

The 1986 Camp Waupaca Tennis program involved a variety of skilled performers ranging from campers who never handled a racquet, to those who had played some tennis before arriving at camp, to those whose lives were hitting ground strokes on the heated black-top courts.

This young, elite group of tennis players came to the courts everyday expecting to advance their skills. It was difficult to plan a program for each camper, but we tried our best to encourage growth and self-evaluation.

This year's campers improved steadily day after day and, as our motto read, "PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT."

There were a few players who showed great improvement. (Not that everyone didn't...) However, Bobby Hirsch, Jeremy Parker, Dan Oseran, Jon Torshen, Mike Jelinek, Gregg Feinstein, Scott Levine, Jason Page, Benjy Schwab, Robert Resnick, Jonathan Sills, Eric Marder, Jordan Pockross, Jason Baer, Brett Schwartz, Scott Fox, Brian Soifer, & Danny Barbakoff.

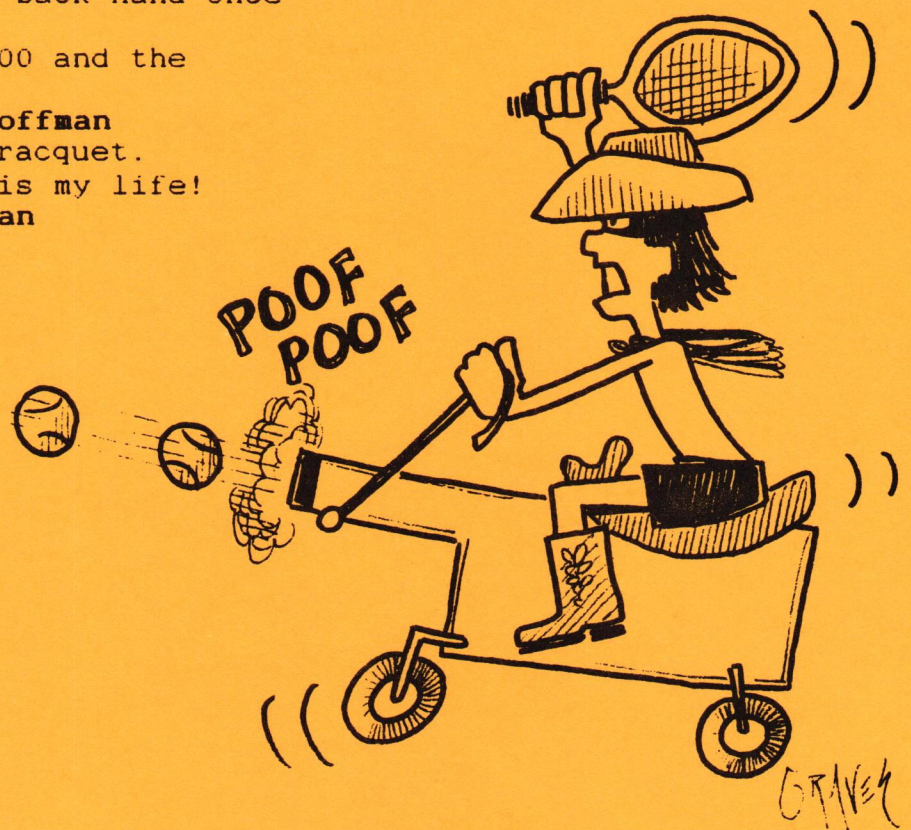

The participation in this year's Waupaca Wimbledon, was overwhelming. The chart on the following page shows the teams that "made it to the top." Due to weather, scheduling problems, et al, the tournament never reached its final round. The three pairs are hereby declared winners.

I would like to congratulate my assistants who helped me greatly during the summer: Jon Torshen, Scott Rubin, Eric Fine, Eric Goldstein, Benjy Schwartz, Dave Costello, Jon Levy, Oliver Haase, Alan Cook, Ed Schotz, Mike Jelinek, & Jason Charles.

Mr. Tennis, Mike Scharmer
The Waupaca Ace, Sam Golpers

Some "behind-the-net scenes" from tennis this year:

1. Bobby Hirsch hit a back hand once in a while.
2. Mike Jelinek--$70.00 and the racquet is yours!
3. AJ Levin & Bryan Hoffman better find a new racquet.
4. Eric Fine--Tennis is my life!
5. Brian Millman & Ryan Kaufman, Roll On, Alabama! Roll on!

1986 Waupaca Wimbledon

Winners

C. Fisher and J. Ptak
E. Fine and J. Belenke
R. Lavine and B. Hirsch

Eliminated Round 3

P. Warshauer and AJ Levin
S. Dudzak and J. Smith
D. Hager and G. Feinstein

Eliminated Round 2

R. Heath and R. Jacobson
T. Ames and D. Oseran
L. Eisner and D. Feinstein
K. Lapins and A. Kroll
A. Moschin and C. Thake
J. Charles and R. Sturch

Eliminated Round 1

E. Euer and A. Zann
W. Metzдорif and N. Silins
M. Lenz and M. Christ
Ju. Parker and A. Genender
A. Schambow and Bo. Schwartz
J. Levy and D. Weitzenfeld
E. Schotz and Jo. Parker
M. Scharmer and R. Resnick
S. Rubin and Je. Parker
M. Jelinek and G. Porat
C. Brauer and J. Kully
E. Goldstein and J. Seed

Tournament Director: Mike Scharmer

WATERFRONT

Ever since the first air-gulping fish walked on land hundreds of millions of years ago, terrestrial organisms have struggled to overcome the problem of transporting themselves through an alien and dangerous substance called water. Given such a vast inheritance of aqua-phobia, the swim classes did not do too poorly.

In Chris Brauer's classes, minor illnesses was the keyword. Despite these campers, boys like Jason Drexler did manage to get wet a few times. His third hour class was hard to get into the water, but did very well on their testing. His fourth hour class had the bigger boys like Ricky "you're a spec" Spritz. Fifth hour was usually eager to get into the water, and once in, it was sometimes hard to get them out like David Brown and Brian Millman.

Nobody was exempt from the instinctive fear of water. Rob Heath had to constantly remind his classes that it wasn't his fault that the heater under the dock was broken. Fortunately, boys like Brian Schneider, Jason Harris, and Marc Weiner were bold enough (or crazy enough) to brace the challenge of swimming in a heater-less lake. Other campers also worked hard in overcoming the difficulties in transporting themselves through that alien substance called water. Jon Venetos, Scott Zeller, and Mike Goldberg greatly improved their swimming abilities.

Mark Pellegrino made going swimming look very appealing to his classes. Boys like Chad Spivak and Keith Radeke enjoyed his frequent games of Capture the Flag and Nuke 'Em. Matt Glick and Jason Siegel proved to be an unbeatable team in Mark's mini-Olympics out on the raft. Working on strokes and playing games were the main goals of all the swim staff members. It's a way to learn and to forget just how cold the water could be at times. Even the goggled Mike Margolese made his presence felt in the water under these conditions.

After a distinction between the scissors-kick and whip-kick was made, swimmers like Matt Abrams, Scott Segal and Michael Mandel began to resemble their amphibian ancestors in aquatic ability during Peter Martens' class. In fact, due to the amazing amount of time spent in the water, it was feared that Mike Wohlstadter and Danny Shapiro might transform into some new species of human fish if they didn't come out. Despite the temperature of the lake, Tony Schatz, Keith Simon, and Brian Hoffman win the Young Orators Award for voicing the most eloquent arguments against swimming on any given day.

In Al Shambow's class, Bobby Hirsch displayed an excellent attitude in trying to learn the skills of a fish. Robert Resnick and Andy Zann preferred to stick with the water they could stand in or put in a squirt-gun. Once over their shock of actually being in the water, Gil Porat and Jason Smith swam very well. They weren't interested in being human fish, but worked hard anyway.

To better acquaint his classes to the skills of being a terrestrial organism in a beach-like environment, Jim DeVries took it upon himself to include "leisure swimming, diving, and suntanning" in his lesson plans. Scott Berland, Scott Macomber, Matt Silverstein, Scott Pinsky, and Jon Newman all worked very hard at this as well as their regular strokes to achieve their Swimmers Card.

Randy Loeb was one of the strongest swimmers in Mike Lenz's classes. Jeff Sime also followed in the footsteps of his amphibian-like friend, except with a trusty kickboard. Danny Schwab and Ira Rosen took it upon themselves to master the art of rope-walking for fear of touching something as horrible as wet sand. It was a firm decision of Jeff Fagelb, Kyle Gams, Justin Hirsch, and Randy Weiss not to resemble any frogs (no offense, Paul!), thereby not mastering the breaststroke.

Some of the best amphibian-campers were Sean Swidler, Cole Klapman, Brad Schneider, Gregg Fienstein, and David Costello. Not even the broken heater could keep them away from learning some of the more advanced strokes and skills.

The swim staff would also like to thank all the swim assistants including: Pete Berk, David Costello, and Bruce Fisher. It was a great summer down at the waterfront once again trying to overcome the continual problem of learning how to transport ourselves through that alien and dangerous substance known as...Lake Stratton.

Peter Martens
Al Shambow
Rob Heath
Mike Lenz
Jim DeVries
Mark Pellegrino
Chris Brauer